5. [redacted] Met with Mike Finley, House Foreign Affairs Committee staff, and told him that the Agency has been in regular coordination with State Department representatives on the [redacted] The Department has the responsibility for balancing all of the interests of the U.S. Government in this matter. The Agency interest is only one of these interests. Finley thanked me for the advice and told me he would advise Representative Dante Fascell to deal directly with the Department on this matter. Finley said Fascell and Representative Whalen and possibly others will be travelling to Venezuela and other South American countries beginning around the second of January. He asked if I would see what Agency unclassified energy information is available for Committee use relating to South America.
